The Platform. The republican party, in national convention assembled at the end of twenty years since the federal government was first come sitted to its charge, submit to the people of the United States this brief report of is administration: It suppressed a rebaion which had armed nearly a million men to subvert the national au- party which seeks to withdraw the existing thority. It reconstructed the union of the states with freedom instead of slavery as its cornerstone. It transformed four million human beings from the likeness of things to the rank of citizens. It relieved congress from the infamous work of hunting fugitives aves and charged it to see that slavery does not exist. It has raised the value of our paper currency from thirtyvalue of our paper currency from thirty-eight per cent to the par of gold. It has restored upon a solid basis the payment in coin of all the national obligations and has given us a currency absolutely good and equal in every part of our extended country. It has iffed the credit of our nation from the point where 6 per cent, bonds sold at 86 to that where 4 per cent. bonds are eagerly sought at a premium. Under its administration, railways have increased from thir yone thousand miles in 1860 to more than eighty thousand in 1879. Our foreign trade bas increase 1 from $700,00,000 to $1,500,-(00,00) in the same time, and our exports, which were $20,000,000 less than our imloans, it has, since the war closed, defrayed the expenses of the government, besides paying the accruing interest on the public debt and disbursed annually more than i 30,000.00 for soldiers' pensions. It has vived. Labor is in demand increased, and throughout the entire country there is evidence of a coming prosperity greater than we have ever enjoyed. Upon this record the republican party asks for the continued confidence and support of the people, and this convention submits for their approval the following statement of continue to guide and inspire its efforts:

the principles and purposes which will We affirm that the work of the last twenty-one years has been such as to commend itself to the favor of the nation, and that the fruits of the costly victories which we have achieved through immense diffi-culties should be preserved; that the peace regained should be cherished; that the dissevered Union, now happily restored, should be perpetrated, and that the liberties secured to this generation should be transmitted undiminished to future generations: that the order established and credit acquired should never be impaired; that the pensions promised should be paid; that the debt so much reduced should be extinguished by the full p yment of every dollar thereof, that the reviving industries should be further promoted, and that the commerce, already so great, should be steadily encouraged, 2. The constitution of the United States is a supreme law and not a mere contract. Out of confederate states it made a sovereign nation. Some powers are denied to states; but the boundary between the powers delegated and those reserved is to be determined by the national and not the state tribunals.

3. The work of popular education is one left to the care of the several stat s, but it tional ability. The intelligence of the na-tion is but the aggregate intelligence in the several states, and the destiny of the nation must be guided, not by the genius of any one state, but by the average genius of all.

4. The constitution wisely forbids congress to make any law respecting an estab-lisament of religion, but it is idle to hope that a nation can be protected against the influence of sectarianism while each state is exposed to its denomination. We, therefore, recommend that the const tution be so amended as to lay the same prohibition on the legislature of each state, and to forbid the appropriation of public funds to the support of sectarian schools. b. We reaffirm the belief avowed in 1876, that the duties levied for the purpose of revenue should so discriminate as to favor American labor; that no further grant of the public domain should be made to any railway or other corporation; that slavery, having perished in the states, its twin barbarity, polygamy, must die in the territories, that everywhere the protection accorded to a citizen of American birth must be secured to citizens by American adoption; that we esteem it the duty of congress and harbors, but insist that further subsidies to private persons or corporations must cease; that the obligations of the republic to the men who preserved its integrity in the day of battle are und minished by the lapse of fifteen years since their final victory. Their perpetual honor is, and shall forever be, the grateful privilege and sacred duty of the American people. 6. Since the authority to regulate immigration and intercourse between the United States and foreign nations rests its treaty-making powers, the republican party, regar ing the unrestricted immigra-tion of Chinese as an evil of great magnitude, invoke the exercise of that power to restrein and limit that immigration by the enactment of such just, humane and rea-
